

The best way to learn about LIFE is to GET INVOLVED!

Membership: Marty Lee, Interim Chair

This committee is the most visible of all committees since they are the ones who man the Welcome Table each week. Committee members answer questions and make nametags for visitors.

Curriculum: Bob Shannon, Chair

This committee is responsible for the weekly programming we experience during our Tuesday meetings/classes. They gather suggestions and contact possible speakers for our fall and spring semester. This committee is always looking for more involvement from LIFE members.

Trippin' through LIFE: Gail Agor, Chair

LIFE members enjoy taking Lifelong Learning on the road. Gail her committee plan and execute field trips for our members at local places of interest.

Knights Helping Knights Pantry: Deb Barton, Chair

Students who incur large accommodation expenses, sometimes have difficulty affording food. The University maintains a place they can go where food can be obtained for free. LIFE conducts two large food drives each year.

Toys for Tots: Kim Bowers, Chair

Late fall, LIFE members contribute toys to be distributed to needy children in our community over the holiday season.

Gerontology Research Grants: Bill Myers, Chair

Some of our dues go to help benefit valuable research at UCF. With so many worthwhile requests, this incredible committee has the difficult job of deciding on distribution for each year's funding.

Diversity and Inclusion: John Cooper, Chair

The Diversity and Inclusion Committee meets monthly to discuss and create collaborations and initiatives that support the goal of enhancing the environment for diversity and inclusion within LIFE at UCF. The committee ensures that these initiatives are consistent with the university's goal of becoming more diverse and inclusive.

Public Relations: Open, Chair

Public Relations is the lifeblood of any organization. It provides the opportunity to “tell our story”, to a host of audiences. From preparing press releases, drafting collateral materials, coordinating photography and just plain reaching out in different directions, the Public Relations Committee shines the spotlight on LIFE at UCF.
